PROJECT OVERVIEW

A clear fitness-center comfort problem

High gym windows were sending intense daylight and solar heat into the fitness center. Trainers and patrons were being hit by uncomfortable brightness while exercising, creating a persistent glare problem across the room.

CHALLENGE

Glare in an active gym

Elevated perimeter windows admitted strong sunlight into cardio and strength-training areas, affecting visibility and comfort for both staff and members.

SOLUTION

Exterior Silver 15X

Approximately 350 sq ft of 3M Silver Exterior Series 15X was installed from lift equipment to treat the high glazing without disrupting the interior fitness floor.

SAME-DAY FEEDBACK

Noticeable improvement

The facility reported a great improvement the day the project was completed. This is client feedback, not a measured temperature or energy-performance result.

WHY THIS FILM

Reflective exterior solar control

3M identifies Silver Exterior Series 15X as a 15% visible-light-transmission film. The manufacturer describes the product as helping reduce glare or eye discomfort, increasing daytime privacy through reflection, creating a more uniform exterior appearance, and potentially reducing air-conditioning costs during warmer months. Project-specific energy savings were not measured.

FIELD EXECUTION

Exterior lift installation led by Jared Becker

The project was completed by Jared Becker, owner of Shore Tint & More. Lift access allowed the crew to reach the high exterior glass while keeping film application outside the active gym.
